

Summer Undergraduate Research Opportunity in Chemistry

The University of North Carolina Department of Chemistry

Summer Undergraduate Research Opportunity in Chemistry (SUROC) provides students from outside the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill an opportunity to engage in hands-on cutting edge research in our state of the art facilities. Experience Carolina Chemistry, recognized by ACS as one of the top ten graduate programs in the country!

Dates | Details

May – July 2019

- 10 weeks of hands on independent research with UNC Chemistry faculty
 - Special seminars: presenting scientific research, scholarly abstracts etc.
- Workshops related to graduate programs and professional development skills
 - Social activities: Durham Bulls Game, Bowling, Movies, team building
 - Participation in research symposium at end of summer: poster/oral format

Stipend | Travel | Housing

- $5,000 stipend
- Travel to campus available up to $500
- On campus housing provided in Ram Village Apartments

Eligibility | Requirements

- US Citizen or permanent resident
- Rising Juniors or Seniors, exceptional rising Sophomores
 - Minimum 3.0 GPA
- Chemistry Majors or strong emphasis in related chemistry coursework
- Women, students with disabilities, and underrepresented minority students (defined by NSF as African American/Black, Hispanic/Latino, American Indian, Alaska Native, and Pacific Islander) particularly targeted.

